PRICES AT A STANDSTILL

Fluctuations Narrow, and as Much as Quarter a Rarity.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The stock market was at a standstill to-day. A fluctuation of as much as a quarter was a rarity. Feeble as was the drift of prices, it was inconsistent towards of prices, it was inconsistent towards and upwards without any apparent reason. There was a slight recovery after the appearance of the bank statement, which proved less unfavorable than the forecasts. The loan contraction helped to scale down the deposits tion helped to scale down the deposits and the reserve requirements and the cash decrease was much smaller than was anticipated. It was taken for granted, however, that the week's exports of gold figured in the averages for a small proportion of their real effect, leaving that effect to be transferred over into next week's statement. This expectation left a bad impression. The engagement of gold for London was increased to $1,750,000 to-day in time for the outgoing steamer. Foreign exchange rates were strongly maintained to-day, especially for cable transfers, in spite of the supply of that form of remittance supplied by the gold shipments. The sustained strength of
